

can to see the great annual game between Yale and Harvard without feeling a great deal of pride in his country. In all the world there is "no sport like football-the American intercollegiate kind of football. The English games compare with it as water compares with sparkling wine.

It takes the gamest kind of a game minute halves without once slackening speed or even for a second wavening in the determination to win. To see twenty-two of these, the very pick of all teams, pitted against each other for the honor of their respective alma maters is enough to make the gravest man in the world forget his dignity and root like a freshman. If they were playing for money, like the English ball teams, the forty-five thousand in the grand-stands would hardly be carried off their feet. But in these college a rare thing in this commercial age The proceeds do not go to individuals, but are used to build athletic stands, training grounds and grand-stands, and to provide conveniences for every kind of athletic sport indulged in by the

After the first bour between Dabny Dunn and Willie Schumacker Police Captain Tappin, of the West One Hundredth street station, arrested the two boys, together with Dam Suilivan, president of the club. The m n were balled out and appeared before Magistrate Barlow in the West Side Court. On account of the Immense amount of business before the court the case was adjourned until Dec. 2i.

Capt. Tappin was requested to make the arrest on the appeal of the West End Society, which claimed that the law was being violated. Capt Tappin was of the opinion that the club was a regular organization, and he was shown the charter and members' cards. All the boxers are made members before they are permitted to don the glaves.

Young Corbett and Charile Seiger will meet on Thanksgiving night in a three-round bout at this club.

Three of the foremost amateur billard players of this country, J. Ferdinand Poggenburg, Edward W. Gardner and Charles F. Conklin, will meet tonight in a tournament which will decide the permanent holding of the Engle gold cup. This trophy has been emblematic of the national amateur billiard championship and has been held by Poggenburg, Gardner, Conklin, Wilson P. Fosa and Arthur W. Townsend. The two list-named players, although eligible, will not compete in the present tournament, which will be held in the music room of the Liederkranz Club, Fifty-eighth street and Park avenue.
